My HEART GOES OUT TO ALL THOSE WHO LOST THEIR LIVES & THOSE WHO TOOK SENSELESS & RUTHLESS BEATINGS / DEATH / T.O.

I feel empty; sad, and sick too.
Why, how do such horrible things happen, I hope there is still hope. Joan a sadly beautiful tribute to the victims of these terrible acts - I commend the POM for taking this initiative.

Sandra Raymond

Glad of those who survived and could share their story.
Let's hope the world listens.

Let's we Forget!

I was in Cambodia last year for 2 weeks.
Visited the hallowed grounds of the "Killing Fields".
This exhibit brings all those memories & pictures back in focus.
Thank you for bringing this horror so people can see and learn
A Roberts

Thank-you.

I'm embarrassed to say I never knew about Hitler House until today. This was one of the best exhibits I've been to. I could see the pain in the prisoners eyes. I'm so saddened, yet inspired by the images I saw today. Very very impressed. I can't wait to bring my friends and family back.
Praying for the victims.
A.G.

Such an important exhibit. I tribute ^{painant} senseless to victims of brutality.
I will never forget these faces.
JA Toronto

Thank you for bringing this tragedy to light. History is so unknown and it is only so appreciated when you see the actual reality of it. I appreciate the knowledge and pray for the losses.

Thank you for bringing this exhibit to the ROM and Toronto.
What's happened in the past and in other countries need to be known and understood. It was a very enlightening and sad experience. But it's reality.
Hope, peace and love.

J.N

Deeply moving and respectfully presented - one feels compelled to witness every face - nod in recognition of our shared humanity - bless them - move slowly back into life.

Muchas Gracias por la exhibicion Reinventes muy interesante y nos deja un recuerdo invaluable

Un excelente museo, con mucha variedad y cultura de todas partes del mundo.
Felicidades por brindar a la gente la oportunidad de ver de cerca tantas cosas increíbles.
Preserven este museo.

Love & Peace!

Nothing in life is permanent life itself is not permanent may the souls of those people live on in peace XXXD
Ethan

"Sorrow concealed, like an oven stopped down burn the heart to cinders where it is."

may we learn from these histories, may we remember the importance of peace, not for the sake of those who caused us pain, but for our own souls.

Love him forever.

Rest in peace!

You Will All Be Remembered
-Ethan A.

I am without words and I will never forget my and I will remember.

What huge suffering all those precious human beings endured - what a huge sacrifice!
My heart is bleeding. I want to love ever more deeply and never think, speak, feel + do hate.

Thank you for giving us a gift of honouring and loving all we have seen and witnessed.

A tragedy that has sadly been too often repeated.
Hopefully we will learn from these events and act faster in the future!

Such a tragedy, my heart aches for the people involved and affected. Thank you for the opportunity to witness this exhibit and be able to reflect on some of the issues that are in areas of the world.
A beautiful memorial.

The horrors of war + cruelty of man - so sad!
Let there be HOPE !!

this teacher we all important messages about tolerance and love - we must unite to ensure this never happens again!
-Natherine

It's so sad

~~slowly~~

This brought me to the point of tears. How can people be this cruel??!!
-Elorn 2012 ♡

lest we not forget,

Thank you. More information on how the philosophical/religious ideals of the Cambodians who survive would be helpful.

A very important message for everyone to hear, remember, and learn. But most importantly, to act on. Thank you for providing the opportunity to do so. May we all be to be a peaceful people and aid those who are in need.

NEVER FORGET

Rafferty '12

A respectful, heartfelt memorial to these precious souls. Each face speaks to us. How can we continue with hatred in our hearts? As I listen to the Buddhist chant filling this space, I hope we can follow the wisdom of the Buddha in the Metta Sutta: "Just as a mother would protect her only child, even at the risk of her own life, so let one cultivate a boundless heart toward all beings"

Truly moving.

God is witness to these murders, and will judge them if they have no sought God and forgiveness. Jesus Christ came to die for all our misgivings Peter Simon

It was a touching and moving changed my perspective on things

We are so sorry - our hearts break at times.
What have we done.

A very thoughtful and respectful show that truly educates and inspires many parts of Cambodia's present. Thank you for bringing this to the ROM.
-Gemma
Very powerful exhibit. The music is both a beautiful and haunting accompaniment to the photos.
-KEVIN

An absolutely exquisite exhibition. As someone who has visited both S-21 & the killing fields this display captures the horror of these sites but also builds upon this to encourage reflection and peace. Rom is to be congratulated on such a wonderful exhibit.
- Alice (AUSTRALIA)

- God helps to never repeat this history. - Thanks for sharing their story. V.W.

Thank you for having a glimpse at the unknown history of these faces, you see how lucky we are to live without such a regime. I don't know but I pray for these individuals but I pray for them all. And I pray for a world where peace exists within ourselves. Wamsh Dkate

Alex (Ukraine)

Thank you for opening my mind to the harsh realities of life that exist outside my doorstep. These acts of inhumanity lead me to practice a life of compassion and understanding for others. I don't know but I pray for these individuals but I pray for them all. And I pray for a world where peace exists within ourselves. Wamsh Dkate

I would have never known of this dark history in Cambodia had I not seen this exhibit.
Even if it is just a glimpse, these pictures hold strong stories of the times and the people within them. I feel greatly humbled and lucky for the life we have.
-Daniel

It's a very complicated experience to witness these portraits - and it is good to have such a thoughtful presentation that allows us a glimpse into precious lives lost so horrifically. To reveal this history & honour these people is with hope that such atrocities can be no more.

A humbling + enlightening experience.
Well worth the visit to the Museum. Thank you

A truly moving exhibit of a part of history that is important to be aware of, yet so few people know about. Thank you for raising awareness and sharing this with us.
Jina (Toronto)

Thank you for offering this incredibly moving glimpse into the horrors of the Cambodian genocide. I was very interested to see the ROM's take on this exhibition as I am a long time admirer of the ~~ROM~~ and have visited both S-21 and the Killing Fields earlier this year.
I can't say if today was easier or more difficult than my visit to S-21 in March '12...
Today I knew what to expect, but ~~the~~ ^{painful} memories of visiting S-21 came flooding back...
Canadians needed to see this... Thank you.

Thank you for sharing this beautiful exhibit.

Thank you for showing this, giving me a real eye opening experience

Very beautiful images.

Thank you for the thoughtful, inspiring and tragic representation of this horrible event. I hope to see the ROM engaging in more socially/critically challenging material in the future.
